THURMAN MAKES INDIANA REPUBLICAN. PROTECTION SURE TO CARRY THE NATION-HAR-

MONY AT CHICAGO. New-Albany, Ind., June 8 (Special).-General Walter Q. Gresham arrived in this city, his home, this morning, called here by illness of his brother John, stricken with paralysis. He is in excellent scalth and spirits. He makes no speeches, talks little and says nothing about politics except to intimate friends. Speaking of the nomination of Thurman, he

"It is one of the best things for Republican success in Indiana which could have happened. It makes Indiana truly Republican. If Gray had been nominated, the chances of Republican success in this State would have been somewhat complicated. I am a Republican, and desire above all things Republican success. I consider the attempt of the Democratic platform to indorse the tariff platform of 1884, the President's message and the Mills bill absurd. On a straight-out Republican protection platform the

STILL CALLING FOR BLAINE.

DHIO REPUBLICANS, IN MASS-MEETING, URGE THE NOMINATION OF THE MAN FROM

springfield, O., June 8 (Special).-Black's Opera was packed to the door last night, with a mass meeting of Blaine Republicans of Clark County. Kelly presided, and Judge W. H. West, the Blind Man Eloquent, who named Blaine in 1884, was the orator of the evening. No more enthusiastic meeting has been held here since the last Blaine campaign. Judge John C. Miller, in calling the meeting order, stated that it was to antagonize no one, but was to give the Republicans who were convinced that with Blaine as a leader victory was sure a chance to express themselves. By careful observaion he had found that nine-tenths of the mass of Republicans want Blaine nominated, and he believed it was arrant hypocrisy to sit still and see the will of the masses defeated. Judge West, when introduced, was applauded loudly. In the course of an eloquent ddress he declared that, had it not been for the action of the Toledo convention, neither the Florence nor the Paris letter would have been written. "There are two men who can carry New-York," he said, "and the greater of these is James G. Blaine." Resolutions were adopted, pledging the meeting to the ominee at Chicago. The Blaine clause was this: That we recognize the eminent fitness of all the genwhose names have been mentioned in con nection with the Republican Presidential nomination, out above them all in the hearts of the people towers that illustrious statesman, James G. Blaine, whose name is linked with certain victory in November, and we hereby commend him to the consideration and affection of the delegates to the Republican National Convention in Chicago." Judge West said after the meeting that he considered Depow and Harrison the strongest ticket possible without Blaine on it.

Judge West writes to night from his home the fol-

Judge West writes to-night from his nome the following:

"Have just received this telegram from Chicago:

"The Chicago Elaine club indorses your Springfield speech and utters the campaign cry—Blaine means victory.

Te-night W. N. Whitely, the great mower and reapor maker and inventor, who took the plug-hat brigade 1,500 strong to Indianapolis to see Blaine in 1884, sald:

1884, said:

"I am heartile in sympathy with last night's meeting. I believe just such a meeting should be held in every school district in the Northern States. The object is to convince all other candidates that the people desire Blaine. Then they as true Republicans should, when the Convention assembles, give heed to this great demand from the rank and file of the party, and gracefully withdraw in favor of Blaine. This is what Chase and Seward did for Lincoln. Blaine's nomination means certain success."

GOVERNOR BEAVER FOR SHERMAN.

Pittsburg, June 8 (Specia) .- Governor Beaver was in he city to-day. When asked about the Republican somination he said: "There is certainly a strong feeling in Pennsylvania favorable to Sherman. I don't know that the Pennsylvania delegation will be solid for him, though it will probably be more nearly so than for any other candidate. Alger, it is true, has a following in Pennsylvania. It is kulte natural that le should have the old soldiers with him." A telegram from Belleonte was shown the Governor, an Interview with Adjutant-General Hastings, in which the latter says hat after consulting with Governor Beaver he had decided to present Senator Sherman's name to the Convention. The Governor said that Hastings was a man of truth, and he guessed it was about correct.

DEPUBLICANS URGED TO ORGANIZE In a letter to the Republican clubs of this State the Executive Committee of the State League urges all local Republican associations to join it and assist in the work of party organization. It adds:

in the work of party organization. It adds:

System in club work is of the greatest importance. There are now nearly 400 clubs in this State, and their number is increasing daily; many of these have already joined the League but it is desirable that all should do so, for working by themselves they cannot accomplish one quarter of the work for the party that can be done by them working together as an intellectual unit. We are all striving for one common end—victory unit. We are all striving for one common end-victory in November. No matter how much good work any individual club may do in its own locality, unless every section of the Stare is thoroughy aroused and organized that work will go for comparatively little when the votes come to be cast and counted. In the general result a vote in the most distant section of the State is of as much importance to the Republicans in your locality as a vote cast in your midst.

THE SINGULAR UNANIMITY OF CANDIDATES. Chauncey M. Depew was met by a Tribune reporter yesterday, as he was leaving the Grand Central Station for luncheon. Mr. Depew was clad in a new light suit and wore a straw hat which would have looked attractive to any Presidential bee. "What is the news, Mr. Depew?" queried the re-

Mr. Depew carefully adjusted his straw hat and, placing his hand on the door-knob, replied: "Well, you may say that Mr. Depew has seen the representatives of every Presidential candidate on the Republican side, and they all come from the West. He has also seen the representatives of every Vice-Presidential candidate, and they all come from the East. By all the representatives of these Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates he has been assured that, while he possesses undoubted strength in New-York, he could not carry a single Northwestern State. The unanimity of this opinion is as remarkable as its disinterestedness. Good-by."

And Central's president strode away with a suspicious twinkle in one eye.

S. W. DORSEY HAS NO GRIEVANCE. Denver, Col., June 8.—Stephen W. Doney arrived in this city to-day, and his attention being called to telegrams in Eastern papers in respect to his going Chicago to knife everybody and the Republican party, he said: "I have not the slightest intention of being at the convention, and there is not a candidate named that I would not be willing to support. I have not now and never had a grievance against anybody, and this story about my knifing Sherman or Gresham is pure rot. I am a Republican from con-viction, and am for whoever will most elevate free-dom for everybody and everywhere."

HARRISON'S SUPPORTERS CONFIDENT.

Indianapolis, June 8 (Special).—The Harrison Club, the organization that will give the Indiana candidate his most enthusiastic support at Chicago to-night determined to send between 2,000 and 3,000 men to the convention, and a movement was started to raise funds for that purpose. Letters from the North and South were read showing that Harrison's candidacy was growing stronger. On the other hand the supporters of Gresham are claiming that he is gaining strength in Indiana, and assert confidently that he will receive several votes after the pledges to Harrison have been made good on the first ballot.

MR. HALLIDAY'S RESIGNATION ACCEPTED. Dr. George W. Brush presided at a business meeting Plymouth Church last evening after the weekly prayer-The Board of Deacons, to whom was I the resignation of the pastoral helper. Mr. Hallday, re-ported that his determination to withdraw from his official relations with the church was fixed and final. It was therefore recommended that his resignation be accepted, of three months in advance be waived and sat be paid for that period. It was also recommended that a committee be appointed to express in suitable terms to Mr. Halliday the affection in which he was held for his ng and faithful services to the church.

Thomas G. Shearman moved for the appointment of a committee of five, three from the church and two from the ty, to raise a suitable testimonial to be presented to-Halliday. He offered $250 to start it. The motion adopted, and it was left with the chairman to appo the committee. Before the meeting adjourned B. F. Blair made a speech warmly praising Mr. Halliday's character MANY CALLERS ON THURMAN.

CLUBS, DELEGATIONS AND LETTERS. PROTESTS AGAINST HIS TAKING SECOND PLACE [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Columbus, Ohio, June 8 .- Judge Thurman continues to receive hundreds of telegrams and many visitors, including returning delegations from the St. Louis Convention. His hitherio peaceful home has been overrun by Democratic clubs, all radiant with immense red handkerchiefs. The Randall Association. of Philadelphia, last night began the ball, and to-day the Jackson Club, of this city, escorted first the Wash ington newspaper correspondents and then the Ohio delegation, which came back in Colonel Brice's special train. To the correspondents Mr. Thurman was very pleasant, and to the group gathered in his son's parlor

"The only time I ever had a long talk with Henry Ward Beecher, he said: "Well, you are a pretty good-looking man for a Democrat." I must say you are a pretty good-looking set of men, considering you are a pretty good-looking set of men, considering you are newspaper men. I must confess I see no indication of horns, or weapons of any kind. Now, if you want to do me a favor, write a speech for me and attribute it to me. However, he careful to put in the applause frequently. (Laughter.) You can do this in your best style, and speak of my rebust health, and say that I am equal to John L. Sullivan, of Boston. (Laughter.) Wishing you a pleasant journey home, I hope to meet you again."

The party was then driven to Governor Foraker's office and formally presented to him. An incident was the reference by several correspondents to For-aker as a probable candidate for President to oppose Thurman ticket, which is regarded here by Thurman's friends as very much a kangaroo affair.

Judge Thurman's telegrams of congratulation came from every prominent man of the nation, but he has made no response as yet. The persistent siege of his home by clubs and callers has excited him possibly beyond his strength and there is no mistake about his feebleness, a fact noticed by many visitors to-day. Referring to the bandanna handkerchief and its origin the Judge said to-day privately.

He took a pinch as he said it. Then he read a letter from Holland, presenting a box of snuff from a firm at The Hague. He has a curious collection of letters and telegrams, many of them anonymous. One writer calls him "An old fool for taking second place, as you ought to be President." Other communications of protest do not hesitate to use words with a big, big D frequently. In speaking of the Republican Convention, the Judge considered it foolish for his op-ponents to select candidates from other than doubtful States like New-York and Indiana, and intimated that Depew would be strong. He refused to be interviewed as to Depew's relations to monopolies. licans are pleased with Thurman's nomination. Gov-ernor Foraker said to-day: "If we can't elect our ticket this year, we never can." ROSWELL P. FLOWER ENTHUSIASTIC. THURMAN'S NOMINATION WILL MAKE SOUR DEMOCRATS "WHOOP IT UP" FOR CLEVELAND. Chicago, June 8 (Special).—Roswell P. Flower, Chairman Barnum and Patrick Kelly wer's resting themselves at the Pacific to-day, on their return from St. Louis. To a reporter who called, Mr. Flower was very affable. "The nomination of Allen G. Thurman," he said, "is the strongest that could possibly have been made. The selection of the Old Roman will silence every man in the Democratic party that has had the slightest grievance against the Administration for what has been termed an unfair distribution of patronage, and any man who was at all sour toward Cleveland will whoop it up for him, now that Thurman is his running mate. No ticket the Republicans can possibly put up can defeat our ticket, backed as it is by our issue for tariff reform. Cleveland's vote in New-York will be increased, and Thurman will bring to the ticket the entire Democracy. The Pacific Coast is particularly grateful to Thurman for his stand on the Chinese question, and will surely give him a solid majority."

'How about the labor vote in New-York?" asked the reporter. "It will be almost solid for Cleveland. Henry

GOVERNOR GRAY NOT SURPRISED. HE EXPLAINS WHY THURMAN WAS CHOSEN-HOW

M'DONALD'S FRIENDS ESTIMATE GRAY. Indianapolis, June 8 (Special).—Governor Gray received the news of Thurman's nomination with complacency. "I have had no other expectation for wo days than that Thurman would be nominated for Vice-President," he said. "I have long thought that the man whom the New-York delegation supported would be the nomince. I have been led to telleve that the New-York delegates, coming from the State from which the President is chosen, would have great weight with the convention, many dole gates supposing perhaps that the delegates from the Empire State were voicing Administration sentiments. According to my advices, I think I should have had no trouble had it not been for Thurman's candidacy." What will be Thurman's strength in Indiana?" "I think he will carry the full strength of the party in this Sate. He is a grand man, and a colossal figure."

Will the strength of the party be powerful enough to give him the vote of Indiana?" "The vote shows that Indiana is a close State, when fully aroused and well organized and enthusiastic. If the last vote is brought out, I think the party can carry Indiana. I want to say with regard to my candidacy that I feel prouder of the support I have received at St. Louis and at home, at the hands of the party, than I would be of any honor the convention could confer upon me." Mr. McDonald is not in the city, but John P. Frenzel, a member of the Democratic State Executive Committie, and one of Mr. McDonald's most intimate friends, says: "McDonald is right in this matter, as he has shown himself to be in all party councils heretofore; and the action of the convention is a full vindication of his course. It would have been a mistake to have nominated Gray. It is true that he has run fairly well in previous campaigns, but he never was in a campaign where he was not backed by an undivided party, or where there was any special opposition to him among independent voters, as there is at present. Gray's candidacy was more of a personal than a general one."

RETURNED FROM THE CONVENTION President J. Hampden Robb, of the l'a part-

MAYOR HEWITT SAYS HE HAS NO POLITICS. At the meeting of the Special Quarantine Commis-tion in the Mayor's office yesterday, Commissioner John A. Nichols called attention to newspaper reports of Thursday's meeting in which it was represented that the Mayor had "smelled a Platt mouse" in Mr. Nichols's proposition regarding the expending of the legislative appropriation. Mr. Nichols objected to the insinuation that there was any politics in the attitude of the Republicans in the Commission—Dr. Smith and himself. He called attention to the fact that it was composed of five Democrats and only two Republicans, while the committees were each made up of two Democrats and one Republican. Mr. Hewitt asked to be counted out on the question of partisan-ship, saying that he had no politics. Mr. Nichols asked that the erroneous impression given out by the reports he had alluded to be corrected. Mayor Hewitt said: "There does not seem to be anything to correct except the statement that the Mayor smelled nething and said so. No politics have been developed here yet. Mr. Nichols must not mind being misrepresented. The Mayor is misrepresented nine times out of ten, and is sometimes provoked to say something."

INDIANA DEMOCRATS NOT DISPLEASED. Indianapolis, June 8 (Special).—The Democratic State Committee, which met here to-day for the purpose of electing a secretary, is not sorely displease over the defeat of Governor Gray at St. Louis, but on the contrary it is as well pleased as it would have been if he had been put upon the ticket. committee will now demand outside pecuniary aid, as the only means of carrying the State, and that could not have been expected or secured if the responsi-bility of carrying the State had been thrown upon the committee by the nomination of Gray.

DEMOCRATIC DISCORD IN PHILADELPHIA. Philadelphia, June 8 (Special).—The Democratic clubs turned out to-night to receive their brethren from St. Louis. Owing to a split, there were two distinct parades. One procession marched in honor of the Randall Club's return, and the other welcomed the delegates who represented Postmaster Harrity, Collector of Customs Cadwalader, and Surveyor of the Port John Campbell.

COMMENT ON THE ST. LCUIS CONVENTION.

WATTERSON'S OWN PAPER SATISFIED. From The Louisville Courier-Journal. No doubt any longer exists in the mind of any man as to the purposes of the Democratic party toward the tariff. Whatever doubt may have existed as to the meaning of any phrase of that instrument is removed by the declaration that the party reiterates those declarations as interpreted by the message of Mr. Cleveland and the subsequent approval of the action of Democrats in Congress who for four years have labored to give force and effect to the promises of 1884.

PROVOKING SMILES IN GEHENNA. From The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette. Its Union plank must have made the devil laugh. TIME WORKS CHANGES.

From The Probary Standard-Chron.

Four years ago President Cleveland refused a place in his Cabinet to ex-Senator Thurman because the latter was too old, being then seventy-one. Now he is trying to induce Thurman, candidate for Vice-President, to help himself to man, candidate for Vice-President, to help himself to re-election as President. One year ago the President went fishing on Memorial Day. This year he came to Brooklyn and New-York to review the Grand Army parade. Time, as both incidents show, makes some changes in the head, even if the heart remains un-touched.

RESIGNING POOR GRAY CHEERFULLY. From The Indianapolis Sentinel (Dem.) Never was an honor more worthily bestowed (than by Thurman's nomination). Indiana had a candidate of her own, whose defeat is sincerely regretted, but it is no discredit to be beaten in a Democratic Conven-tion by Allen G. Thurman.

THURMAN WILL CARRY NO STATE ALONE. From The Indianapolis Journal (Rep.)

From a popular standpoint (Rep.)
From a popular standpoint (the nomination of Thurman is) not a strong one. The name of Mr. Thurman will not help to carry any State, and we mistake the tenor of the people if before the campaign has ended they do not become disgusted with the scheme of self-seeking and false pretence represented by his nomination. There are thousands of Democrats who would vote for Thurman for President, notwithstanding his advanced age, who will not vote for him for Vice-President associated with Cleveland. GREEN GOODS SWINDLERS TRAPPED.

REPOSING CONFIDENCE IN A REPORTER-WHO WAS THE DETECTIVE.

The arrest of a gang of "green goods" swindlers by detectives from the District-Attorney's office, upon information furnished by Anthony Comstock, is like ly to make trouble in the Jersey City Police Department. After the gang had been arrested, Edwin C. Mason, a reporter, furnished the District-Attorney with some evidence against the prisoners. He said that he joined the gang with a view of exposing them, and that he was introduced to the leader by a Jersey City detective, whose name is not given. The detective recommended Mason as a safe man, and he was taken into the confidence of the swindlers to some extent and received some money from them which was marked and placed in a safe. After the raid was made on the swindlers, Mason told what he knew about them to the District-Attorney.

Mason also says that he was detailed by the gang o "fix" or bribe Assistant United States District Attorney William D. Daly. Mr. Daly could not be fixed," and Mason says he gave him all the evidence he had and then reported back to the gang that Mr. he had and then reported back to the gang that Mr. Daly could not be approached. Another part of the story is that a countryman from Norfolk, who had been swindled, was advised to go to the police head-quarters. The countryman went there and told his story to a man who represented himself as a detective. The detective dissuaded him from pursuing the case by representing that he would not only be exposed, but locked up as a witness, and the countryman was so much frightened that he went away. On the advice of some other person, he told his story to Anthony Comstock, and the raid followed. A thorough investigation will probably be made.

NEW-ORLEANS WITHOUT FUNDS. New-Orleans, June 8.-Mayor Shakespeare on Tuesday ordered fifty copies of the license inspection books to be turned over to the police, with instructions that the force be required to report at once the names of all persons who have falled to pay or have under paid their Eccases. Today Chief Hennessey sent to the Mayor the result of the first day's work, showing that 853 persons and firms are doing business without having paid the license required by law. The list embraces banhers, brokers, lawyers, commission merchants, physicians, shopkerpers, etc. The city has not money enough to pay the current expenses of Government.

TO CARRY FOUR DOUBTFUL STATES. To the Editor of The Tribuna.

Sir: Phelps and Harrison would make an exceed ingly strong ticket. Phelps would sweep New-Jersey and carry New-York and Connecticut without a doubt. His record is clean and honorable; he has proven himself a friend of the laboring people and is an avowed protectionist. Harrison being from the West and also a protectionist with a good reputation, this ticket would assure us the electoral votes of four doubtful States, and Republican victory in November. ember. Ridgewood, N. J., June 7, 1888.

THE ANTI-MONOPOLY ISSUE

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: The nomination of Thurman with Cleveland presents a new matter to the Republicans of which they will do well to take notice. He makes the ticket strong because he represents the anti-monopoly feeling in the country to a great extent. This is strong feeling in many States and prevails here and in the New-England States. I have been carefully considering the names of Sherman, Allison, Depew, Harrison, Alger, Hawley and Gresham as to their availability to run against Cleveland. My conclusion was that Mr. Depew was the man to nominate, but the nomination of Cleveland and Thurman makes me think now that Judge Gresham is the strongest man to nominate. He is especially strong with the people of the country who oppose monopoly. He would have the support of the labor men and the railroad engineers, and his soldier's record is the very best. on the Pacific Coast he is very popular, where Chinese question will ever remain a question in poli-ties, and he would carry all the Pacific States. If we should nominate Gresham and Warner Miller, I think we could beat Cleveland and Thurman, or Gresham and Morton would do it quite as effectively. Albany, June 7, 1888. REPUBLICAN.

NEW-YORK TO MAKE THE CHOICE. Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: As Blaine is not a candidate, I hope New-York will do her utmost for Gresham. With him we can make Grover Cleveland take down his flag. At any rate, New-York must drop her quarrels and unite, as we do here in Illino's.

Woodstock, Ill., June 4, 1888.

LOOKING TO NEW-YORK AND INDIANA.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: The many friends of Mr. Blaine in this locality decline a nomination at Chicago. They believe that the Convention should now nominate Mr. Depew. They believe that Mr. Depew can certainly carry New-York and probably New-Jersey and Connecticut. Give Harrison or Porter the second place and they will insure us Indiana and certain victory in Novem ber. H. W. HOWE. Granville, Ohio, June 5, 1888.

INGALLS AND FORAKER.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: For President, John J. Ingalls, of Kansas; for Vice-President, Joseph B. Foraker, of Ohio. This ticket would make free traders and Copperheads HENRY J. WHITE. remble. New-York, June 8, 1888.

DEPEW, HARRISON, PROTECTION AND HARMONY. To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: If we cannot have Blaine, let the second show be for Depew, and Harrison as Vice-President. But above all, recall Mr. Blaine's sage words that the ssue of protection is stronger than any candidate, and the only way to imperil victory is by lack of unity or by acrimonious contest over men. In other words, bear in mind these cardinal points: that the Republicans are fighting for party principles first and can didates second, and the only sure road to this triumph is by having a complete caprit de corps. I. M. New-York, June 8, 1888.

NEW-JERSEY AND THE REPUBLICAN CANDI-DATES.

Sir: Some of our Jersey papers quote The Tribune as saying that a nomination for the Vice-Presidency has no great attraction for our well-Lnown citizen, Mr. William Walter Phelps, and that f his name should be presented it would be with-sented Mr. Phelps for the first place, it is quite nat ural perhaps that delegates should occasionally talk in this way.

this way. But they should not think it. He would have n right to withdraw and it would be a new thing for him to refuse even at what he might consider a personal sacrifice, if the party called for his service. The nomination of Thurman for the Vice-Presidency makes it more necessary than ever that the Republican nominee for the same position should have brains, political experience and a National reputation for both. New-York is at any rate a doubtful State, and therefore New-Jersey is vital. But who supposes that New-Jersey can be carried for any Republican ticket But who supposes that without Phelps's name on it, with General Fisk, the Prohibition candidate, who has already taken 20,000 Republican votes away from us, running on the Pro-resident, his would be to do it. Yours, is he the kind of a man to do it. Yours.

JERSEY REPUBLICAN.

Trenton, June 8, 1888.

ALGER'S STRENGTH AND FITNESS.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: I have steadily adhered to the idea that Blaine was our strongest man in 1884, and is our strongest man in 1888. Still Mr. Blaine is, I suppose, now out of the question. Though sadly disappointed in the way things have turned out, still I am a Republican with a great big R, and do not propose to relinquish my grip or cease my efforts. We cannot help feeling, however, that the East is slow to comprehend the situation in the West. We have a fight right here in Michigan, and the Administration seems determined to make it as warm for us as possible. We are so near the border that a change here to free trade would have an immense influence on the States further west and in the interior, and so we are made the especial target for attack. I don't think we want a candidate who finds it necessary to go outside of his own State to secure initial recognition. As to Mr. Depew, he could carry New-York, no doubt, but I am afraid his train would arrive in Chicago just a little too late to make the connection through Illinois, Kansas and Nebraska. Coming to Michigan's choice, we think him exposed to no attack that can hurt him. With us here, he is a great favorite, and even the opposition would be powerless to make headway against him. I am not writing as the representative of Governor Aiger, or at the instance of any one outside of my own office, and yet. I write with some confidence in my ability to discern the signs of the times, and believe if we would conquer General Aiger is the most available men to carry the standard.

The uniformed members of the Post, along with the faculty and alumni of the college, the members of the Board of Education, and others, occupied the platform. The band of the 7th Regiment, led by Cappa, in the orchestra stalls, played selections, while the students and members of the Post filed in, two deep, and took their allotted places. Commander Floyd Clarkson, who prosided, then presented the flag, which was taken to the platform and unfurled amid cheers. General A. S. Webb, platform and unfurled amid cheers. General A. S. Webb, platform and unfuried amid cheers. General A. S. Webb, president of the college, made a suitable reply.

The next speaker was J. Edward Simmons, president of the Eograf of Education, who pointedly expressed the sentiments of the meeting, when he said that he sincerely hoped that the example set by Lafayette Post would give an impetus to the patriotic fervor which had been sweeping over the city, and that it would swell until it had swept over the country. A highly amusing and patriotic speech by the Rev. Dr. John R. Paxton followed. He drew out frequent rounds of applause and lowed. He drew out frequent rounds of applause and laughter during his speech, which lasted about half an hour, and addressing the unfurled beaner on the platform, wound up with a peroration on its merits, which was wound up with a peroration on its merits, which was listened to with rapt attention. Other entertaining speeches followed, and the meeting broke up amid cheors for the G. A. R. officers.

ST. LOUIS AND THE TELEPHONE COMPANY. St. Louis, June 8 (Special).—The fight between the city and the Bell Telephone Company has assumed a serious phase and the company new states that it intends to quit doing business in St. Louis. Managor Durant says: "A half dozen contracts with subscribers expired to-day and we refused to renew thom. Under the ordinance we would be subjected to a heavy fine if we charged our regular price of $100, and as we would lose money by making the charge only $50, as the ordinance dictates, we have decided

OBITUARY.

THE REV. JAMES FREEMAN CLARKE. Boston, June 8 (Special).—The Rev. James Freeman Clarke died to-night at his residence in Jamaica Plain, after several days' illness. Mr. Clarke was critically ill about a year ago, but he partially recovered his health and resumed a part of his work. He was taken down about en days ago and died at 11 o'clock to-night.

This widely known Unitarian divine was born in Hanover, N. H., April 4, 1810, and was graduated from Harvard College in 1829, being a member of the famous class of that year, which included also among its graduates Oliver Wendell Holmes, Dr. Benjamin Pierce, the matheoffiver Wender Holmes, Dr. Benjamin Perce, and the Rev. Dr. S. F. Smith, author of the National hymn, "My Country 'tis of Thee!" He at once entered the Cambridge Divinity School, and was graduated there in 1833. A few months later he became the pastor of a Unitarian church in Louisville, Ky. There he remained for seven years the Church of the Disciples was organized with him as its pastor, and except for an interval of three years, beginning in 1850, he continued in that relation until his death. His pastorate was in all respects a notably successful one, even in a city of great preachers like Boston. While never descending to the level of constitution, he While never descending to the level of sensationalism, he was always fully abreast of the times with his topics, and he presented his thoughts in a clear, simple and popular manner. His congregations were large, but there was much demand for his sermons by the greater congregation of the outside public. Consequently verbalim regation of the outside public. Consequently verbatim reports of them formed, for many years, a constant and at-tractive feature of the newspaper press of Boston. He was accounted an eloquent pulpit orator, but his sermons also read well, and attained probably a wider circulation than, with a single exception, those of any of his contem-poraries. In his theoogy he was not so radical as Theo-dore Parker, but represented fairly the most earnest and active element of the Unitarian Church. He was much given to philanthropic efforts, and few charitable enter-prises in Boston during the past thirty years have been without his support.

Dr. Clarke was a voluminous writer, apart from his ser-mona. His contributions to literature, in his early years, include a number of poems, one of which was read before the Phi Beta Kappa Society. While in Louisville he cilted "The Western Messenger." His writings for the last thirty-five years, however, have been mainly upon religious Doctrine of Forgiveness" (1852), "The Christian Doctrine of Prayer" (1854), "Orthodoxy" (1806), "Steps of Relief" (1870), "The Ten Great Religions" (1870), "Common Sense in Religion" (1873), "Essentials and Non-Essentials in Re-ligion" (1878), "Memorial and Biographical Sketches" (1878), ligion" (1878), "Memorial and Biographical Sketches" (1878), "Self-Culture" (1880), and "The Legend of Thomas Didymus" a (1881). They show great research, profound thought strong powers of delineation and a fine literary style. Dr. Clarke arranged a form of worship for the Church of the Disciples, embodying features of the Episcopal liturgy and some Congregational and Quaker usages. In 1883 he delivered in Boston the Americans and Charles and Cha tional and Quaker useges. In 1863 he delivered in Boston the address on the tercontenary celebration of Shakespeare's birth. He was intimately assented, during his Boston career, with the interests of Harvard College, his alma mater. For many years he was one of the most active and useful members or its Board of Overseers. In that position he gave his influence for liberalizing the institution and extending the scope of its work. He was a strong advocate of coeducation of the sexes, and in 1872 presented to the Board a minority report in favor of the admission of women students. In 1863 the college bestowed upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity. stowed upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

EZRA BAKER.

Boston, June 8 (Special).—Ezra Baker, president of the American Loan and Trust Company, died on Thursday evening at his home in Beverly. About a week ago an abscess on the spine induced him to consult medical treatment, and after an operation blood poisoning of a virulent nature baffled the best skill. Mr. Baker's position in the business world was a most honorable one. He was a kind counsellor to many, and his opinions, the result of reflection by one naturally conservative, were sought for by many associated with him in large business enterprises. In his social relations he was most exemplary and his refined tastes made his own home a delightful abode for all the members of his family. Mr. Baker was born in Barnstable about fifty-five years ago. father was Captain Ezra H. Baker, formerly a shipmaster, but for many years a member of the firm of Baker & Morrill. Ezra H. Baker entered his father's store when quite young and there acquired that business experience which has been so useful to him. At the death of his father he became a member of the firm under the same title.

JOHN C. PRATT.

Boston, June 8 (Special).—John C. Pratt, a well-known business man of Boston, died at his home in Jamaica Plain on Thursday night at the age of seventy years. He was closely connected with the history of the Jamaica Plain Gas Light Company. He built the works forty years ago and was the last of the original board of directors. He was the first president of the company, holding the office till he died. For fifty-five years he was connected with the business plain road. At the time of his death he was president of the Granite Railway Company. He was at one time president of the Jamaica Plain Savings bank and a director of the Franklin Insurance Company. He was a frequent contributor to the press. His wife and LEMUEL MILES STANDISH. Boston, June 8.-Lemuel Miles Standish died this Boston, and for forty years he was senior member of the firm of Standish & Woodbury, masons and builders. In 1842 he became connected, with the higher in price than those of similar quality without Massachusetts Charitable Association, and of that organization he was at certain periods trustee and vice-president, His political experience was varied and extended. He represented Boston upon the Tripartite Commission-including the S the Boston Water Power Company and City of Boston,-a commission that was formed to settle disputed points, and that led to an amicable arrangement in laying out the Back Bay District of this city. At the time of his death Mr. Standish was president of the Revere House corporation.

The Duel Between Gladstone and Ingersoll.

Popular interest in the controversy still raging between Col. Ingersoil and Mr. Gladstone shows no nbacement. The North American Review for June, containing Col. Ingersoil's letter to Mr. Gladstone, is rapidly travelling towards asile of 100,000 copies, Such a circulation is in inducous contrast to all "competing" periodicals. This speaks vol. umes for the merit of the "Review" and the increase of popular intelligence.
